Social Work Program BSW Assessment 2013-2019

Social Work Program Assessment Plan

The Social Work Program is accredited by the Council on Social Work Education (CSWE) and adheres to accreditation standards that require each program to have an assessment plan and procedures through which to evaluate program outcomes. Utah State University's Social Work program's assessment plan is tied to the CSWE Educational Policy (EP) Competencies that are updated at irregular intervals. Each individual course contains student learning objectives and outcomes that link back to our accrediting body competencies. In addition, we test sophomores (APT) and juniors (GPT) on social work competencies before they move forward in the program. The Social Work program uses its assessment information to affirm or improve our course content in relation to our learning objectives and accreditor-derived competencies. In the outcomes reported below, we start with the 2008 CSWE Competencies for the data reported for 2013-15 then move to the 2015 EP Competencies for assessment results from 2016 through 2019.

Social Work Mission

The social work program’s guiding philosophy is based on two broad traditions: generalist social work practice and the land-grant university heritage. The program mission is to prepare social workers for beginning practice in a diverse society and to equip students with the knowledge and skills essential to the general tasks of promoting social welfare in institutions such as education, health, employment, housing and criminal justice. The program provides grounding in the fundamental generalist skills, knowledge, and values of social work, such as critical thinking, clarification of personal values, awareness of diversity, professional use of self, and communication and interpersonal relationship skills.

Social Work Program Goals

The two fundamental goals that guide the Social Work Program are:
1. To prepare students for employment as generalist social workers through education in a professional foundation curriculum and selected liberal arts education coursework.
2. To prepare students for advanced professional education.

Advanced Placement Test (APT) and Generalist Practice Test (GPT)

The Advanced Placement Test (APT) and Generalist Practice Test (GPT) results are each used as part of the evaluation process to determine student readiness to move forward in two places in the Social Work program. The APT is one of the indicators to assess if students are ready to move into the Advanced Standing junior year practice classes. The APT tests student knowledge of the content in the three introductory classes (SW 1010, 2100, 2400). The GPT is one of the indicators to assess if social work juniors are ready to move into their senior year practicum placements. The GPT tests student knowledge of the content in the four junior year practice classes (SW 3050, 4100, 4150, 4160). Students need to score 70% or better on either exam to advance to the next level. In addition to their function as readiness indicators, the exams evaluate teaching effectiveness of content areas (see Tables 1 and 2 below) and also how well we meet teaching objectives. As can be seen in Tables 3 and 4 below, the APT/GPT results are also linked to the appropriate CSWE competencies. Faculty members discuss all assessment results at the first Social Work faculty meeting of each academic year.

Good = On the Cusp, Better = Competent, Best = Highly Competent

Practicum instructors use Qualtrics to fill out this assessment tool that is their evaluation of student accomplishments on each of these CSWE required competencies.

Data-Based Decision Making

In an effort to continuously improve, assessment data and outcomes are discussed by the faculty and with other constituencies on an ongoing basis. Below are examples of how this is done.

Monthly Faculty Meetings and Semi-annual Retreats. Discussion of assessment results occurs on an ongoing basis at monthly faculty meetings, the annual fall faculty retreat, and the annual spring practicum faculty retreat. During these meetings faculty members discuss assessment outcomes and propose plans to remedy any issues determined to be problematic. We also discuss ways to share with our constituencies what we are doing and what changes we are considering. Student representatives are invited to these meetings when the agenda suggests their input is needed. As needed, we gather feedback from our constituencies regarding the change process. For example, recently we discussed ways to improve the professional seminars taught in conjunction with the field practicum experiences. We learned from the student self-assessment data collected over the past two years that students needed more time to process their practicum experiences in ways that help them develop program competencies. We responded by adjusting the seminars to include more time for processing experiences, connecting those experiences with practice behaviors and competencies.

Field Instructor Trainings. Field Instructor orientation/training occurs at the beginning of each fall semester to welcome field instructors to the new academic year and to familiarize them with the requirements of the field experience as it applies to them. Field instructors are provided with information about the program, including pertinent program assessment results, as well as information about student requirements for the year, and the faculty liaison with whom they will be working. During a recent field instructor training we discussed how the learning contracts are used to help students focus on practice behaviors and competencies they need to give more attention to during the field practicum experience. Field instructors provide feedback regarding the learning contracts, specifically how the foundation contract could be improved to help students develop competencies about which they feel less confident.

Annual Department Newsletter. Each year the Sociology, Social Work, and Anthropology Department publishes an online newsletter with information regarding assessment data, faculty hires, awards, research projects, retirements, visiting scholar presentations, workshops, and student projects and accomplishments. This allows the department to update alumni, the community, and other constituencies regarding current events and changes that are made in connection with assessment outcomes. The newsletter is used to solicit feedback from stakeholders that is then used to inform assessment-driven program changes.

Website Updates. Our social work webpage is another avenue we use to update our constituencies and solicit their feedback. It is updated regularly with current events, announcements, and news concerning the social work program. There is also an assessment link on the website (http://socialwork.usu.edu). The website provides contact information for program administrators and faculty.
